JALEOS

"En el baile hay dos mundos: el de los mortales y el de Los Farruco..... Punto." Alberto García Reyes, ABC (Spain)

Antonio Fernandez Montoya, "Farruco"

Born in Sevilla in 1988, he adopted the artistic name Farruco after his late grandfather, the legendary flamenco dance master El Farruco. His entire life he has been witness to the purest form of Gypsy flamenco art. He began dancing professionally as a young child at which time he appeared in the film "Bodas de Gloria". He has continued performing with his family all over Spain as well as internationally to great critical acclaim. His incomparable technique and fearless sense of improvisation make him a thrilling dancer.

Juan Fernández Montoya "Barullo"

Born in Seville in 1990, he made his debut at the age of 5 in the Alameda de Hércules theatre in Seville together with his grandfather. That was the first and only time he performed with the legendary Farruco. Since then he has been performing all over Spain, Europe and the Americas with his cousin Farruquito. Deeply rooted in his family heritage, he is known for his overtly Gypsy style of dance and his elegant stage presence.

Rosario Montoya Manzano "La Farruca"

is the daughter of legendary Farruco and the mother of both El Farru and Farruquito. Born in 1962, she began dancing at a very young age. She first came to San Francisco in the 1980s with the touring Broadway production "Flamenco Puro" where she shared the stage with many of the great flamenco artists of the time such as her father El Farruco, La Fernanda de Utrera, El Guito and Manuela Carrasco. A recent New York Times review said of her: "You feel in La Farruca [...] the accumulated wisdom of decades, the calm mastery that holds an audience in thrall and never lets it go".

Pilar Montoya Manzano, "La Faraona"

is known for her deeply Gypsy fiestero style dancing, she has the ability to transmit a full range of emotion with even the slightest movement. Dubbed "la madre de la buleria" by her father, the legendary flamenco dance maestro El Farruco, she has lived and breathed Gypsy flamenco from the time she was born. La Faraona has performed all over Spain and toured the entire world appearing alongside her nephew Farruquito, her son Barullo and her sister La Farruca. Her art is totally personal and one of a kind. When taking the stage, she makes you believe that dancing is th most natural thing in the world.

Bulerias en Fiesta Workshops with Emmy Award-winning artist Yaelisa

Accompanied by guitarist Jason McGuire "El Rubio"

Centered around learning the structure of the baile y cante, phrasing and improvising for the intermediate/advanced dancer. Yaelisa uses her understanding and deep knowledge to help dancers approach Bulerias fiesta-style with more confidence.
